3 Sheeps Brewing in Sheboygan

The Youth Mental Health Network (YMHN), a collective impact initiative of United Way of Sheboygan County, brings together schools, healthcare providers, community organizations, and mental health professionals to strengthen the systems that support youth and families across Sheboygan County.

While student mental health continues to be a critical priority, we also recognize the importance of supporting the educators and school staff who show up every day for our youth.

Across the country, educators are experiencing increasing levels of stress and burnout. National surveys show that more than half of teachers report frequent job-related stress, and nearly 70% either leave or are considering leaving the profession earlier than planned due to workload, emotional strain, and lack of support. When educators are supported and cared for, they are better able to build strong relationships, foster safe learning environments, and support the social and emotional wellbeing of their students.

To help show appreciation and support, the Youth Mental Health Network hosts an annual Educator Appreciation Social – an evening designed to recognize and celebrate the dedication of educators across Sheboygan County while offering opportunities for connection, wellness, and gratitude from the broader community. This event is one small but meaningful way our community can say “thank you” to the individuals who invest so much in our youth.

We invite local businesses, organizations, and community champions to partner with us through an Educator Appreciation Sponsorship.

Thank you for considering a partnership that uplifts the educators who give so much to our community’s youth.
